

Angels and Words

Welcome to the world of the Spirit, sayeth the Lord. You have pressed beyond reasonings now. Now your eyes are set on My Word and only My Word. My Word has become your starting point. My Word has become your ending point. My Word has become the path where your feet walk. Now there is another measure of the increase in the power in your words, as you realize that My righteousness means; All responsibility, and all power for accomplishment in your life is dependent upon My action and not your own.

How does the Lord turn up the power in our words? He has sent an angel to you. You have many angels assigned to you, but I am assigning a specific angel who is a chief - a commander of sorts. His specific assignment is to hear your words. As he hears your words, he issues commands to the angels that are under his command. There are ranks of angels, and different angels have different assignments.

This angel will not forgive your words. Angels do not operate in mercy and forgiveness; they operate in obedience. Therefore, I charge thee: Speak My Word and Speak in line with My Word. This angel will not forgive nor bypass your words.

Concerning angels, look unto Jesus. He said He could ask the Father for angels and the Father would have given them. He is your example. When you sense the need for additional angels - request them. The Father assigns them, and equips them, and instructs them through the Holy Spirit. You can request more angels for a specific purpose. And then pray in the Spirit, pray in the Spirit, and the Holy Spirit will instruct the chief angels who will instruct the lower angels to accomplish My will in the earth, sayeth the Lord.

And there are those times when I just choose to send angels to minister unto you. They are My servants. I send them forth to serve you. It is possible, and it is your privilege, to request angels.
